Continuing Education Council (Norman)

Purpose:

The Continuing Education Council (CEC) works with and supports the Vice President for University Outreach, Associate Provost for Continuing Education and Dean of the College of Professional & Continuing Studies (PACS), and reports to the Faculty Senate on matters concerning continuing education. The Council provides a forum for faculty and administrators to discuss all aspects of lifelong learning as it impacts the University of Oklahoma. It also serves an advocacy role in raising the level of campus discussion on such issues as:

- cross disciplinary interaction
- technology transfer and its campus-wide impact
- the role of the university in workplace education and learning for place-bound adults and community/public service
- certification and non-degree academic programming
- interdisciplinary continuing education
- distance education

The CEC serves a proactive role in providing information about outreach and lifelong learning to the Faculty Senate, the Provost’s office, and the President’s office and directing campus dialog regarding these issues. In addition, the CEC provides substantive input and acts as a constructive sounding board for the Vice President for Outreach and Associate Provost/Dean and staff regarding outreach, distance education, and academically-oriented lifelong learning programs and activities. Finally, the CEC serves as a liaison between the President’s office, the College of Continuing Education Professional & Continuing Studies, and the faculty and staff, providing effective communication between these and other campus groups.

Administrative Liaison:

1. The Provost of the Norman campus or a designated representative will be an ex-officio member of the Council without vote.

2. The Vice President for Outreach Associate Provost/Dean will be an ex-officio member of the Council without vote and will provide staff support for the Council.

Operating Procedures:

The Council shall formulate its own operating procedures that will include:

1. The election of a chair from among the faculty members of the Council.

2. Provision for subcommittees of the Council to which non-members of the Council may be co-opted if appropriate.
Council Membership:

Membership: The Continuing Education Council shall consist of 15 members apportioned in the following manner:

6 Norman Faculty Members: Faculty Senate appoint 4, President appoints 2-3 year terms (1/3 to retire each year)

Discussion Topic: Faculty Running for Public Office

The OU Board of Regents Handbook sets forth the following:

3.1.13—CANDIDATES FOR POLITICAL OFFICE Any employee of the University who becomes a candidate in any primary or general election for any county, state, or federal office shall, prior to announcing candidacy for any said offices, offer his/her resignation to the Board of Regents, without reservation. In making the announcement of the adoption of the resolution, the Board of Regents stated: “In adopting this resolution, the Board of Regents does not want to be understood as offering discouragement to faculty members or employees from becoming candidates for public office. As an American citizen, an employee may regard it his or her duty to become a candidate.” (RM, 9-14-43, p. 1427; 1-27-2004, p. 28924)

Requiring resignation significantly deters members of the OU community from becoming candidates. This policy effectively precludes some of the most qualified among our citizenry from serving in public office and divests them of the right of civic participation. Many kinds of political activity may be consistent with effective service as members of the University faculty. The rule, while not exclusive to state employees in higher education, appears alterable at the Regents’ level.

On November 7, Faculty Senate Secretary Joshua Nelson spoke with Jan Preslar, General Counsel for the Oklahoma State Ethics Commission. As far as she knows, there are no state statutes that prohibit University of Oklahoma faculty members from running for political office, although she reiterated that individual employers, by which I take her to include particular state agencies, may enforce standards of their own. The Hatch Act Modernization Act of 2012, at times referenced in related discussions, does not appear to preclude political candidacy by University employees unless they are funded entirely by federal grant funds (https://osc.gov/Resources/Hatch%20Act%20Modernization%20Act%20Guidance%20for%20State%20and%20Local%20Employees.pdf). Oklahoma statutes may prohibit “classified” employees from seeking partisan office, but faculty are “unclassified” employees, and do not appear to be similarly restricted.

Several comparable state universities provide in their bylaws for more reasonable accommodations for employees seeking office, generally allowing them to take a leave of absence for campaigns and sometimes for up to two years in the event of successful election. Oklahoma statutes may require that state employees can hold only one state position at a time. Faculty Senate might take up the question of allowing for a leave of absence for a campaign rather than resignation.

Attached is a chart comparing comparable state university policies.
